

In the Abstract

After the claims, add the following new Abstract:

ABSTRACT

A method and system for compressing, stripping, converting, and reformatting data in stages for display on a wireless computing device. The method and system tailors the data according to the type of data and according to the wireless computing device's display size, browsing program, location, and application program.